Abuse Risk Management for School Personnel

(Note: It's important to note that this child abuse prevention seminar is different from other abuse prevention seminars.) This interactive seminar will teach school personnel how to protect students from being sexually abused by adults or other students. Participants will learn the scope and significance of abuse in the schools, the types and patterns of adult and youth sexual offenders. Participants will also have the opportunity to test their knowledge about offenders and how they operate. Participants will learn how to monitor interactions and how to recognize early signs of student to student abuse. In addition, participants will learn specific ways to protect themselves from false allegations of abuse and how to respond to reports of abuse.

About Praesidium

Praesidium Safety Specialists use their extensive experience and technology to determine risk management needs. Praesidium works directly on-site to implement the complete Tri-Guard Safety System™. Praesidium provides risk management technical consultation, application and reference checking, on-site and videotape training packages for staff, volunteers, foster parents, or clergy, and complete, self-contained tool kits that focus on specific risk-management issues. If an organization is involved in litigation, Praesidium can provide litigation support services and scientifically based, expert-witness testimony.
